The Chinese Ringneck is the most popular of breeds. This pheasant is used primarily for stocking and hunting. These hardy birds adapt readily to the wild and are prized by sportsmen for their excellent flying ability and brilliant colors.

The Kansas Ringneck is a small pheasant – the cocks weigh 2.25–2.4 pounds and the hens weigh 1.4–1.7 pounds.

The Manchurian Cross Ringneck is the offspring of a Pure Manchurian and a Chinese Ringneck. The Pure Manchurians were imported as eggs directly from the fields of China. These birds have great naturally wild characteristics which are seen not only in their physical appearance, but in performance as well.

We offer the Chukar/Redleg Cross. The Chukar is a small flighty gamebird.

The Melanistic Mutant is a pure breed. These large, beautiful pheasants feature an iridescent, greenish-black plumage.
